

Organic Fairtrade certified cotton cloth

Our organic Fairtrade cotton handloom cloth being woven on a traditional South Indian loom in the village of K.V.Kuppam.

A new delivery of hand-woven organic Fairtrade cotton cloth arriving at the K.V.Kuppam Tailoring Units.

We supply the organic Fairtrade cotton cloth used in our clothing collection to other designers, crafts-people and fabric shops. This generates further employment for the weavers of K.V.Kuppam.

Our main cloth is a shirting weight handloom. We have this produced in two colour collections a year, Spring/Summer and Autumn/Winter, these include plain colours, checks and stripes. Our customers can forward order a minimum of four pieces of this cloth to be woven specially for them. Each piece is 19m in length and 122cm wide. Lead times for this can be up to 3 months.

We also produce and sell calico (in unbleached only), a lightweight handwoven lawn in summer, four weights of denim, and babycord and velvet in Autumn/Winter. They are all 100% Fairtrade certified cotton, and all apart from the lawn are woven from certified organic cotton.

As well as the range which is available on a forward order basis, during the year we have small quantities of the different fabrics available from our UK stock. Please contact George for swatches of current stock.

Apart from in the case of very large orders, colours cannot be repeat ordered once our partners in K.V.Kuppam have finished working with that season's colour scheme.
